Dear Sir/Madam,

RE: Retention of trellis above garden fence/wall part North boundary (retrospective)
19 North Road Lancing West Sussex BN15 9AH

I strongly object to the application mentioned above.

This garden connection wall is my mother's fire escape route.
The fact that she has been told to climb a ladder - lift and slide over the wall and climb down, is already ludicrous for a 64 year old lady. Let alone with the added complication of trellis now firmly screwed into the wall and angled so that even myself - a fit 40 year old would struggle to get over in an emergency.

To waiver the law of height limits for garden fences because of cat shit - which is what the neighbour has installed this fence to prevent would be insanity.

My mother has offered on several occasions, if he lets her in on an evening basis she will clear any mess produced by her cats.

But it is not exceptable to waiver the law or my mother's safety for a complaint so ridiculous.

Further more, if there were ever to be a fire while my sisters were visiting, again this fence is majorly increasing the risk of harm to them.
One having 4 children ranging from 5 - 14, and one having 5 ranging from 2 - 13. What previous would have been a case of up the ladder and lower them down, is now impossible. There would be no safe way of getting the younger ones over.

Please take this application very seriously regardless of it just being between two gardens.

Regards,
Sadie
