Dear Hannah Barker.

With reference to the building plans for 75 Manor Road, North Lancing.

We would like to express our concerns about the new building plans that have been purposed for number 75. Our main concern is about the light the new build may block out from the west side of our house. The new houses are now going to be so close that it will block any light we have coming through our windows. The height of the new builds could also become a problem as we have never been overlooked in our back garden, and our privacy would be compromised because of the height.

The look of the new builds, although are in keeping with the new builds at number 67, do not fit in with the rest of the row of single storey buildings.

We are also concerned for the trees, bushes and hedges that will be cut down, as they are very well established and are home to many, many birds and other animals such as foxes, badgers and hedgehogs.

It would be a shame to lose the "look" of the of the Road with what has been purposed.

Kind regards, Mr and Mrs Withcombe.
