Dear Hanna

the timber will be 'wood' colour' - the species will be Larch which will start life as a wood colour (and over time weather to a silvery grey colour)

The blockwork facing the neighbour will be a fair face block - using as 'white' a block as is commercially available - Forticrete Fair Faced blocks in colour 'ivory' which looks something like this

Does this give you enough info - if not please let me know.

yours sincerely

Peter Finch

Good Morning,

I'm just writing up the decision for this one. You state the materials are vertical timber weather boards could you confirm the colour?

Also adjacent to the boundary - concrete blockwork wall - could there be a better finish here for the neighbours to look onto? - I know this is difficult as you are being with the fence in situ.

Please advise - thank you
Hannah
