Universal and Hunting Gates

Double cross-bracing gives the Universal gate its distinctive diamond shape at the centre and makes it exceptionally strong. This traditional design incorporates mortise and tenon joints. 'Water' joints at each end of the top rail and bolts at all crossings. Available in treated softwood, Kerruing and Iroko, the components are all planed with stop chamfered top rail and stiles.

The Hunting gate is the smaller counterpart to the Universal and is available in widths as shown below.
