Reasons for comment:	- Trees and Landscaping
Comments:	The tree is healthy and stable. There is no reason to cut the tree to any extent. There is no threat of this healthy tree falling down. It has stood firm for decades and will remain there for decades. There are a number of species that are regularly seen to reside in the tree whose habitat is now at risk for no worthy reasoning. In a town, county and country where already we are seeing green spaces, particularly trees, reduced in size, it is wholly unnecessary to overzealousy prune trees to their partial destruction, removing habitats for birds, insects and squirrels etc and removing the views of nature that bring people happiness. It should be a priority of the council and it's residents to preserve our green spaces and natural life. Not destroy them unnecessarily.
