Reasons for comment:	- Design - Privacy Light and Noise
Comments:	Further to our previous objection, our conservatory is used daily as a main living room. It is our dining room so used throughout the day, every day and what ever the weather (it has a good heating system in it) and is used as a study space too. By the enormous size and overly close proximity, it being a solid mass, not only will the south roof, being right on top of us, overshadow our living room, which is already dark enough, it will be an eyesore too. We do ask when seeking to gain more light for themselves they don't do it at our expense and respectfully be considerate of our need for light too and have a design that will add for them but not take from our quality of life living next door.

Kind regards
