Sharon Leishman

From: John Harris [redacted]
Sent: 02 April 2013 09:56
To: developmentcontrol
Subject: Faulty public consultation reply page

re- Planning application reference AWDM/0347/13 for McDonald's extended opening hours.

Dear Rebekah Smith
Your Public consultation page is faulty. I have tried 4 times (at different times) to object to this planning application and each time "ERROR: we are unable to display this page at the moment" message.
Next time, I have to re-enter all my information again and again. I am therefore forced to email you direct with my objections as a member of the public.

I am frequently collecting McDonald's rubbish - carton, boxes etc. from my front drive (I live on the A259) and I see the same all along the street. I can only think that customers in cars throw their takeaway wrappings out of the window because they have finished eating their meals by the time they reach my house. I often feel angry and want to collect it all up and take it back to the shop and complain but why should I waste my time for them. If you allow this extended opening time, the result must be more McDonald's rubbish on the streets. Please say NO! to this planning application. I wonder if they are one of the tax-dodging corporations corporations that were recently in the news. If they are, should we encourage them? Their operation certainly produces a lot of very identifiable rubbish.

John Harris
228 Brighton Road,
Lancing BN15 8LH
tele: [redacted]
email: [redacted]

Yours sincerely,
John Harris

PS I wonder how many other objectors had the same experience and just gave up. I think I'll try to find out by writing to the Shoreham Herald about this.