flush RANGE

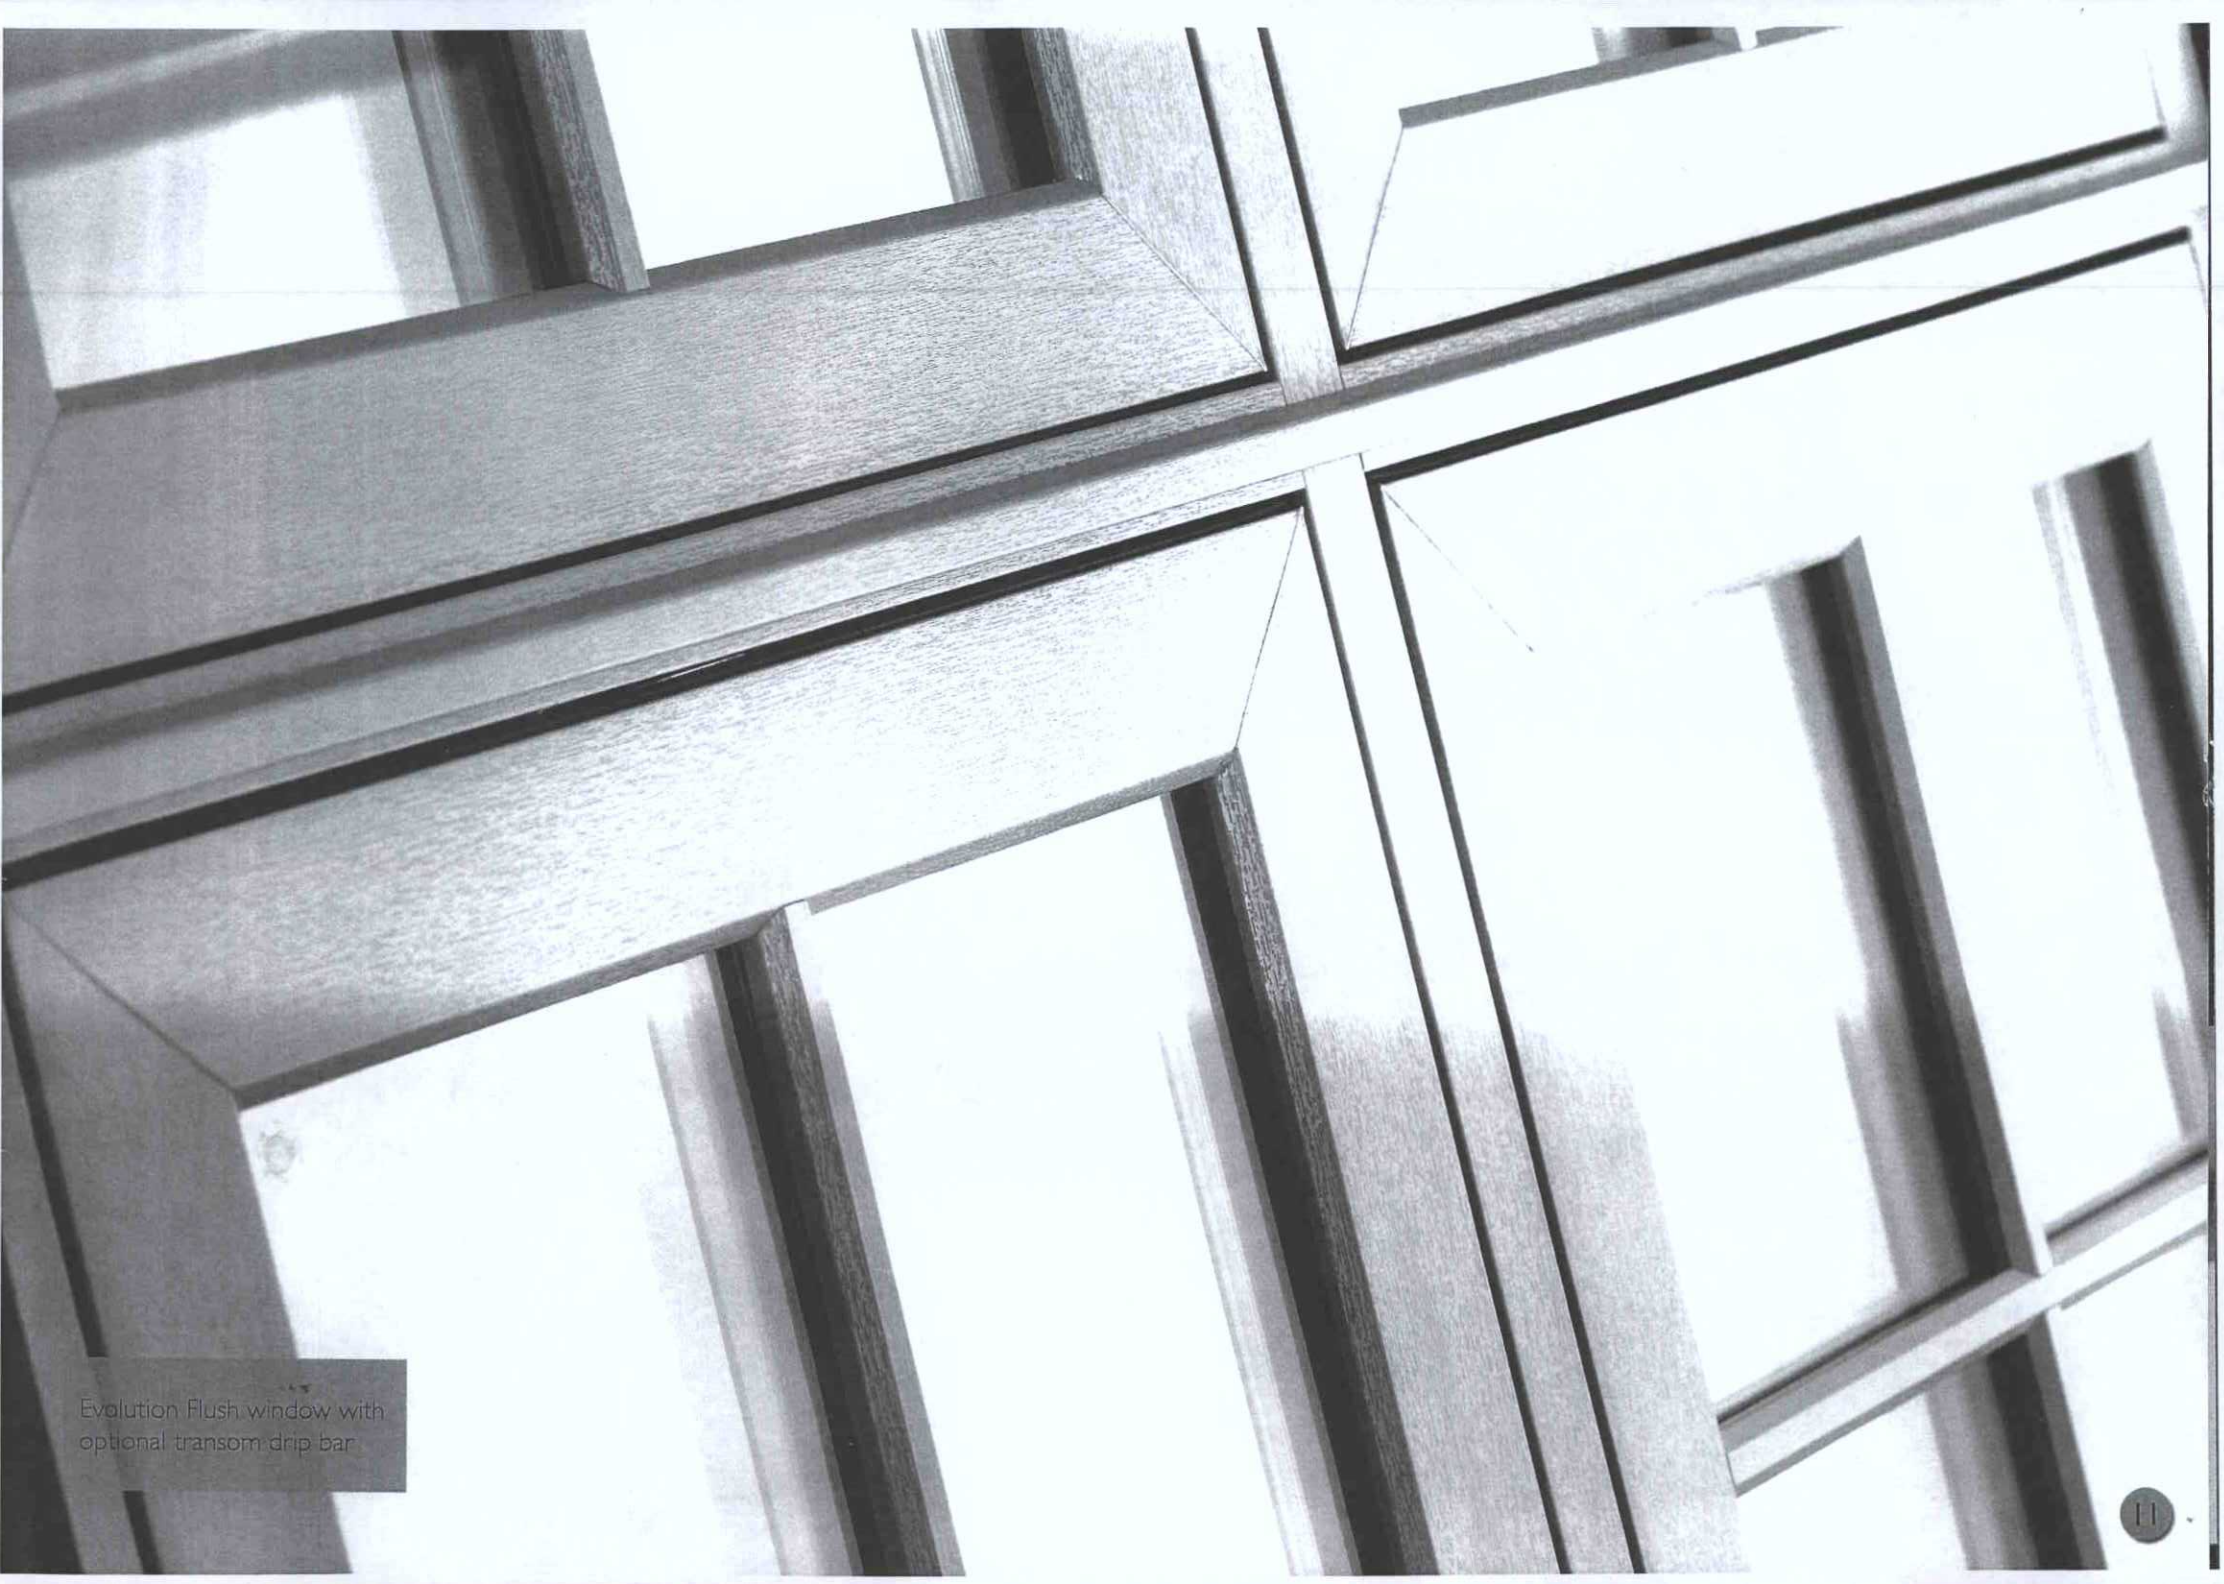
Evolution Flush, the traditional window style.

The new Evolution Flush range showcases sleek window lines that fit flush into the window frame, unlike stormproof windows that overlap the frame. This gives the Flush window a simple and elegant aesthetic.

Originally all windows were flush fitting, it was the main window style until modern windows were introduced. Until recently flush fitting windows were only available in timber so we challenged our innovation team to create a modern flush window, with stunning results.

While flush windows are still very popular in period homes and cottages, we are seeing increasing demand for their use in contemporary new homes and minimalist conversion properties due to those clean, sharp lines.

White flush windows in a contemporary new build property



Evolution Flush window with optional transom drip bar

Key Features of the Flush Range Include:

- Beautiful timber styling throughout with hand-crafted joints
- Exquisite wood effect detailing across all of the frame
- Exceptional energy performance with A++ | | 3u as standard
- Exceptionally low maintenance
- Greater, glazed area allows more light into your home
- Over 200 colour options available in addition to our standard wood-effect finishes
- Solid looking oil proportions are similar to traditional timber windows (optional extra)
- High quality range of handles and working peg-stays available, all designed & manufactured in Great Britain
- Discreet trickle ventilation via our unique weather bar (optional extra)
- Multipoint shoot bolt locking
- Centre casement locking with opposing locks
- Lockable night vent facility

Deep timber proportioned sill (optional extra)

Flush fitting timber style joints

We use espresso easy clean side hung hinges as standard