Reasons for comment:	- Design
Comments:	Have they drawn the height correctly because on the West elevation and North and East elevation, the proposed Ridge is on the height of the chimney pot. On the South elevation the Ridge is shown well below the height of the chimney pot, so which is right ? Because of errors on the elevations, could the architect please provide a street scene to include the properties either side of the application site. Are the roof lights to the main pitched roof drawn correctly on the proposed roof plan and the South and North elevations ?

Kind regards
