In response to objections

I fail to see how the change of a vertical cladding will result in loss of light, especially how the sun travels around the site. This was pointed out in the response to the last objection raise which had no bearing on the planning outcome.

Commenting on what was already approved is irrelevant. No question to answer and have been granted permission so this is a lawful build.

The rear extension will be developed at a suitable time to the client. The condition of planning stated within 3 years. I am unaware of any change to the extension or the build. Future telling is not helpful and misleading.

All plans are up to date and approved by the council.

Kind Regards
