Stance:	Customer objects to the Planning Application
Reasons for comment:	- Design - Other - Privacy Light and Noise
Comments:	In 2013 I too applied for a two-story extension but was refused on the design, twice, as planning did not feel a two story building was appropriate it would overpower, overlook and would not be pleasing to the eye from the road. We redesigned a single story build to comply with planning's requests including reducing the amount of west facing widows. I feel a two story building would eradicate any privacy we have and shadow a large section of my house and garden. I am more than happy for a single-story development to be permitted to the same scale as mine.
