Comments: We live in the property next to 7 Beach Green and the planned second story extension over the garage will result in a wall within very close proximity to a main bedroom window of our house. This will result in loss of light to the room and upstairs of our house, and a loss of view - as we can currently see the green, river etc. We wondered whether the upstairs wall could be sloped perhaps? Or slightly further away from our property to reduce the loss of light and view?
