The Ultimate Rose

Here's what makes it so spectacular:

The Ultimate Rose is the epitome of the Rose Collection design philosophy – an outstandingly authentic, exceptionally-performing and work of art.

The Ultimate Rose was one of the very first uPVC sash windows to be cleared for use in conservation areas – and it's still the best. With slim timber-like profiles and a 35mm meeting rail, no other sash window looks as authentic. And with period features as painstakingly detailed as full mechanical joints, deep bottom rail and external putty lines, it would take an expert to tell it apart from a genuine timber sash.

What's more, you get all that careful craftsmanship, historic detailing and vintage appeal with the all-round exceptional performance of twenty-first century uPVC. It's why we call it the Ultimate Rose.

Ultimate Rose Features

It's the little things that make the Ultimate Rose special – the tiny details that make it virtually indistinguishable from a classic timber sash.

Huge effort over decades has gone into making the Ultimate Rose as authentic as it can possibly be – culminating in a much-coveted G Award in 2013.
