Dear Sir/Madam,
I write in support of the application to replace the Thuja trees on the north side of the front garden for the following reasons:

1). The trees are dangerously close to the ancient boundary wall. They are causing the roots to break down the brick wall.

2). The roots of the trees are also very close to the building and drains and are an imminent danger to the drains of the building.

3). These trees have been let to grow very tall and spindly and present a danger to the building and to the adjoining property (the Rowans) should a high wind blow them over.

4). The design, appearance and character are out of proportion as they have not been kept in shape over many years.

5). Their height and proximity to the building precludes light for many of the residents on the north and west side of the building.

Should we be given permission to remove the trees we plan to replace them with more appropriate shrubs in character with the gardens and sufficiently distant from the walls and building.

Yours sincerely,
Mary Lewis (resident flat 27, Balmoral Court).
