Comments:	Thank you for sending me an email with the relevant documentation attached. I don't understand why I was was unable to download them myself. Perhaps it reflects browser code incompatibility or security issues. However, I've just discovered that if I print the list of documents page off the files are accessible using the hypertext links in that pdf document. Having been able to review the document you sent me and discover the extension doesn't exceed existing dimensions of the property, I have no major issues with the development.

Kind regards
