For the attention of Matthew Porter

Hi Matthew,
Regarding the above roof dorma the drawings show the dorma cheek on the party wall where there is currently a shared chimney. The drawing shows the removal of half of the joined chimney and the dorma cheek being built flush to our remaining chimney, which lies halfway down the roof pitch on the party line. Our concern is obviously fire safety and would the new roof line affect the draw of our active chimney.
It's not clear from the plans how building regs would address this.
We have no other issues with the build and they have our support.
Kind regards
Miss O'Sullivan & Mr Burke (110 Harbour Way)
