Thanks for your email I have just listened to your voice mail – I would not have an issue with increased render on the side elevation and once I have received a drawing the conservation architect can comment on this on his next visit to the office on 7th Jan.

In the meantime do you know how your client wishes to proceed with the current application?

Thanks
Hannah

Hi Hannah

Following discussion with my client as explained on your voicemail the north elevation render is suggested to be increased and a further drawing will be submitted for Architects comments showing this and increased leadwork to the west elevation.
