Reasons for comment:	- Loss of General Amenity
Comments:	I can see that since my last correspondence there has been a revision to the plan. However, the plan is very faint and therefore I cannot fully ascertain whether there has been any amendment due to my previous comments. My previous comments were: The first problem is that the compound looks like it will enclose or impede access to 2 x drain covers. The second problem is that if the cage is built right up to the parking boundary line, this will impede opening car doors or parking vans in the next bay. Parking bays always work on the principle that a car does not sit right on the line. Otherwise cars would touch and human entry/exit would be impossible. Therefore the cage should not sit right on the line. The reason for moving the compound is that the current compound impedes a parking space. Please do not replace one impedance with another one.
