Hi Louise

This was raised by Stephen back in Feb 2024 my reply is still the same, see extract in italics below from email attached.

there's no programme dates but rather a framework and clear undertaking of a process which Lomax will be central to.

The external materials and details are all secure under condition so we cant proceed until approved

This approach has been agreed and we're still in the same position – the document details the framework for Lomax's involvement which will be central to the external detailing and material selection. Richard Small and yourself will be kept informed of progress and invited to view sample panels / materials when ready, the project cannot proceed to certain stages until materials have been approved. Workmanship inspections by Lomax will be arranged early as detailed in the document and reports made available to stake holders.

Trust the above covers concern, look forward to the notice

Regards

Rob
