Heritage

TIMBER COLLECTION

"The noise has reduced dramatically and this winter we have noticed how much warmer the house is."
Mrs S, Peterborough

Make it modern...

with aluminium

The sleek, sophisticated lines of aluminium are particularly suited to more modern and contemporary homes, especially as the smaller frames allow for even more statement glazing. But don't be fooled by the slim line appearance. Choosing aluminium does not mean compromising on strength, quality or thermal insulation. These doors are built to last, and they're designed to keep the warmth in and the cold firmly out.

"We love the feeling of being closer to the garden."
Mr & Mrs T, South Wales

Create more...

Classic
COLLECTION

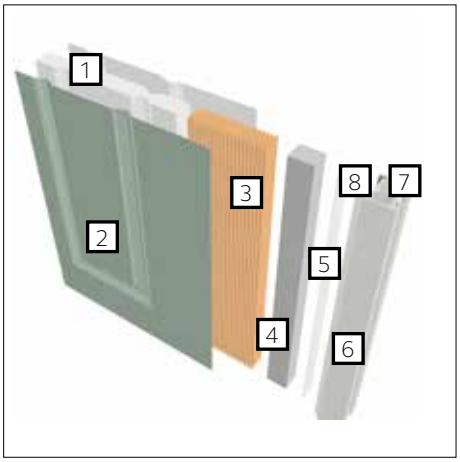

Our composite doors

The Classic Collection

All our Classic Collection doors have a grained finish and are designed to be stylish, strong and secure. Each door is individually constructed using high impact resistant, Glass Reinforced Polymer (GRP) [2]. The door is fitted into an insulated PVC-U door frame. To add further strength, security and weather-protection, the GRP skin is bonded to a rigid, water-resistant polymer subframe [4] and sealed to a laminate veneer lumber (LVL) inner frame [3]. The inner core [1] is filled with CFC free, high density polyurethane foam for stability and extra insulation. Matching composite side panels are also available in some styles.

Manufactured to provide a secure barrier for your home, all our Classic doors are fitted with a multi-point locking system and an Ultion 3 Star cylinder lock as standard, providing you peace of mind against intruder attack.

The Classic Collection has been designed to be long-lasting, easy to maintain and to provide exceptional weather protection. Available in Traditional, Contemporary and Cottage styles with an array of different colour options to choose from - including the option to have a different colour on the inside. Finish off the look with a stylish range of furniture and glazing options.

Elite
COLLECTION

The Elite Collection

The Elite Collection of solid core composite doors combines precision-engineering, innovative technology and authentic craftmanship to provide outstanding results in strength, security and durability.

The cutting-edge combination of materials and security delivers an elite level of performance while maintaining the characteristic look of a high-end hardwood door. Each solid core [1] door leaf is individually crafted with a low density timber solid core, for improved strength and stability against warping and for added security all are fitted with an Ultion 3 Star cylinder. Durable and highly water resistant, the solid timber core is vacuum moulded on both faces with a thermoplastic skin [3]. This skin has a woodgrain effect finish to replicate the appearance of a true timber hardwood door. Our range of solid colours are known as 'through colour', meaning any scratches to the surface will not show a different colour underneath and the insulated five chamber PVC-U frames [6] and Q-Lon seal [8] provide year-round protection against the elements, giving you a thermally efficient door.

The Elite Collection's performance is also matched in style. Choose from Traditional, Contemporary and Cottage style designs. There's an array of colour options, available for both sides of your chosen door, and some fantastic finishing touches to complete the look.

Our PVC-U doors

Our PVC-U doors come in a range of decorative and energy-efficient insulated panel designs to suit all styles of properties. The door energy ratings are independently verified by the British Fenestration Rating Council (BFRC). The BFRC scheme is Britain's nationally recognised system for rating the energy efficiency of doors and is recognised within the Building Regulations as a method to show compliance for replacement door installations.

The choice of solid panel, fully glazed or partially glazed doors, make this section ideal for both back and front entrances; and both double and triple glazing options are available in some styles.

Constructed from high impact PVC-U, these doors are strong, durable and virtually maintenance free. A wide range of high performance security features are included as standard, including a multi-point locking system with a Yale 3 Star cylinder offering anti-pick, anti-bump, anti-snap, anti-drill and anti-plug extraction as standard .

All ranges come in a choice of colour finishes* with the option to choose one of our woodgrain finishes on the outside, while keeping a neutral white on the inside. A selection of matching side panels are also available with several of our PVC-U door designs.

Porches

Create an entrance

Our porches are built to match the style of your home and the space you have available. They can all be finished with any of the fully double or triple glazed doors or windows you'd prefer from our range. We'll also match the brick, stonework or render already used on your home and build whichever roof profile is best suited, from straightforward flat and pitched roofs to single and double hips.

Double hipped to wall

Creating a grand entrance, the Elizabethan designed double hipped roof really does look appealing particularly if chosen with windows and a door that match the rest of the house.

Single hipped

Making good use of space, the single hipped design attractively complements your home, without dominating the front elevation. This is an ideal style for abutting a garage or gable end.

Double hipped to ridge

A variation on the same double hipped design, the double hipped to ridge porch is an attractive style that is perfect for houses with more space at the front.

Pitched roof

A simple lean to roof with a PVC-U fascia either side, draining to a gutter on the front along with a choice of door with either full height glazing or windows mounted onto a dwarf wall.

Gable end pitched roof

An attractive regency style of porch that can complement any pitched roof house style, especially homes with a gable end roof. The porch's gable end features a PVC-U fascia.

Flat roof

Simply styled flat roofed porches can blend in well with any house design and are ideal if you have a deep window above the front door that could be obscured by a pitched roof or if you live in a bungalow with a low roof line.

Colours to complement

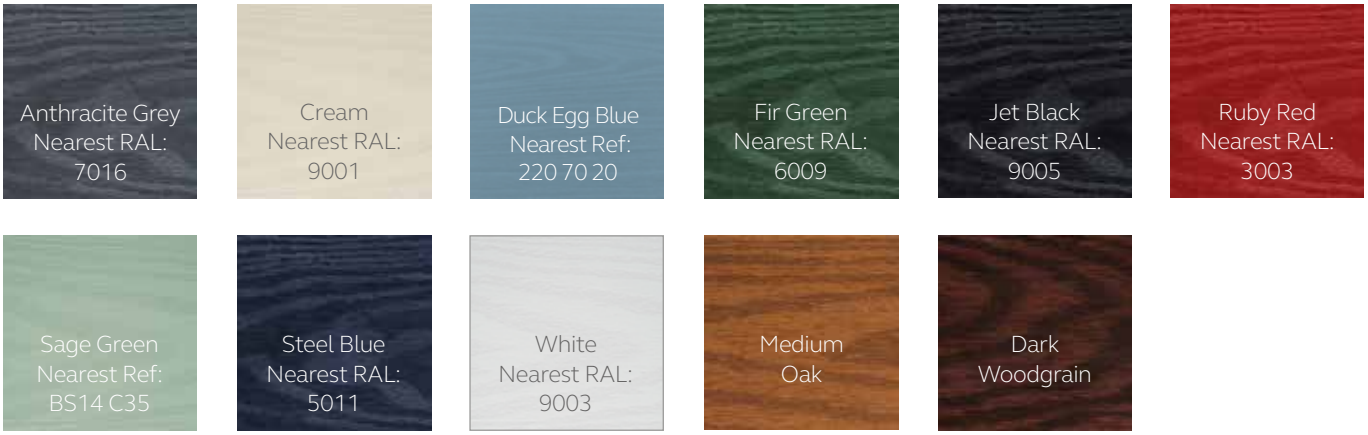

Complete the look of your home

What makes people choose a colour for their front door? Well, it's what works for you and what you think will look best with your style of door and your home, from fresh, plain white to a rich dark red or bright and summery yellow. As you'll see over the following pages, depending on the material you choose, there's a range of colours wide enough to suit every taste. What's more, all our Classic and Elite composite doors can be ordered with any combination of solid colours to the external and internal sides, and some with a woodgrain finish* to both sides. So, you can match your new door to suit both the exterior and interior style of your home. Over to you!

Peace of mind

We take your security very seriously. That is why we have gone to extraordinary lengths to ensure our highly secure locking systems are amongst the best on the market.

With features like multi-point locking, where a series of shoot or hook bolts are locked into the frame, as well as secure, anti-snap, anti-bump, anti-pick, anti-drill cylinders, our doors are incredibly difficult to break into without a key. This level of security will not only deter the opportunist thief but also create a secure barrier against the more determined criminal.

Your security...

helping you feel safe

We understand the importance of feeling safe and secure in your own home, so all our doors come with a wide range of high performance security features as standard. Each door comes factory installed into its rigid door frame* and features robust hinges capable of resisting prolonged attacks.

For maximum security, all our doors are fitted with one of the highest rated 3 Star cylinder locks and use a multi-point locking system which bolts and locks the door into its frame at multiple points, ensuring it is secured in a minimum of three different places from top to bottom.

British Standard approved

We only use 3 star rated TS007 British kitemarked cylinder locks in all our doors. These are rigorously tested against all known cylinder lock attack methods: Anti-pick, Anti-drill, Anti-bump and Anti-snap.

Secured by Design

All our cylinder locks are approved with Secured by Design, an official police initiative to help 'design out' crime through the use of high quality innovative products.

Hook bolts

Hook bolts at the top and bottom of the door are engaged into heavy duty steel keeps within the door frame and locked in place either when you lift the handle or they automatically engage if a key operated lock is used.

Deadbolts

Deadbolts add an extra layer of resistance and strength. For peace of mind, with these bolts the door is more resistant to entry without the correct key.

Security guarantees

In addition to our 10 year guarantee all our cylinders come with an additional security guarantee offering levels of compensation in the event of a burglary or break-in due to the failure of the cylinder.

*Excludes patio doors. Images shown are for example only. Variations of locking systems/cylinder locks are used across product ranges.

Glazing...
that is simply amaz ing

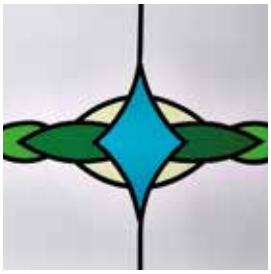

If you can imagine it, we can almost certainly create it! That's because we fashion all our decorative glazing effects by hand. Our team of craftsmen will produce new glazing designs and effects for you or faithfully replicate any existing patterns on your house.

Really, the only limit to the glazing effects we can create for you is your imagination. In fact, our decorative glass options provide you with almost an infinite number of designs and styles to choose from. We'll even etch your house name or number in glass. How's that for individuality?

Please request the Anglian Decorative Glass brochure for our full range of glazing effects.

Etched

Etched glass is a range of designs suitable for areas where a degree of privacy is required. The subtlety of etched glass looks understated and offers both contemporary and traditional designs. This glazing style is available in both our double and triple glazed doors.

Etched glass options

One of the first steps in choosing decorative glass is to decide whether you want to enhance the beautiful view outside, or create a stylish way to prevent the outside world from looking in. Before you pick the overall design, select the appropriate obscurity level based on where the glass will be located and what you're looking to achieve.

Glass styles

Positive: The pattern is sandblasted onto clear glass, but the windows are mainly transparent.

Ideal for: Windows and conservatory windows with a view.

Negative: The background is sandblasted onto clear glass, the design is the only transparent area.

Ideal for: Windows without views e.g. looking out to a wall or fence.

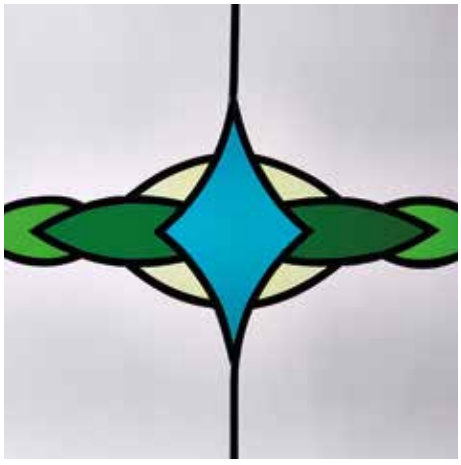

Silver Mist: The pattern is sandblasted onto Silver Mist glass, to give you full privacy.

Ideal for: Bathroom windows.

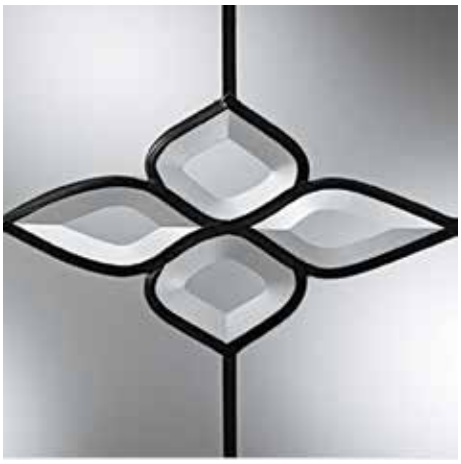

Coloured

Coloured glass is often used to create a traditional stained glass window effect. It's stunning when added to a simple, standalone design, or it can make a real impact when the design is run across a series of panes, such as in a conservatory or around a bay window.

Bevelled

Bevelled glass designs manage to look both modern and classic at the same time. They're just right for adding a sophisticated 'architectural' look and are equally beautiful when kept clear and neutral, or when they're used to inject some subtle colour.

Brilliant Cut

Brilliant cut creates crisp, clean lines for a subtle yet sophisticated effect which still allows plenty of light to flood in. The diamond cut provides a stylish alternative to traditional diamond leading or you could welcome the sun into your home by adding a classic sunburst design to an arched window or a Regency gable end conservatory.

Glazing styles

Fusion

Fusion designs are a mixture of stained glass tiles, with polished edges and connected by sandblasted lines. They're like works of art in themselves and look simply dazzling when used as a colourful centrepiece or as a focal point within a door.

Obscure

Our standard obscure glass is the cool and chic Silver Mist, a beautiful, flat finish that is highly opaque for outstanding levels of privacy. Complementing Silver Mist are ten stylish designs of textured opaque glass that are perfect for bathrooms, toilets or in rooms that are overlooked, but where you want as much light as possible.

Cottage and Georgian bars

The addition of cleverly designed glazing bars can replicate traditional cottage style doors. We have two options available, either Cottage bars which are fitted both internally and externally to the glass making each pane look individually glazed or Georgian insert bars which are fitted between the two panes of glass, making this option easy to clean.

Leaded

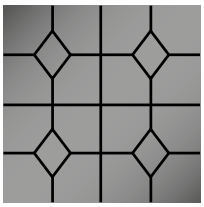

The tradition of leaded light windows goes back to the fifteenth century when glass could only be made in small pieces. Today, our leaded lights are made from a single sheet of glass for thermal performance that's right up to date. There are three traditional designs or you can create your own.
