If Chris Dixon's application goes through, heavy suspicions of corruption and graft will fall upon council planners.

We are part of a wider coastal join up, we are proud to be "blue and green", we are working towards being a leader in rewilding, sustainable and sensitive use of our heritage; this man does not align with any of it.

You know the history of the man and the space. You know that Goring Gap is a precious and rare space.

What legacy do you plan to leave behind?

1990s style corruption and insensitivity, lack of sustainability and environmental degradation? Or something that national wise elder David Attenborough would respect, and something that would truly be sensitive to locals, and to the under 40s (future voters, future residents, long after us old folk have gone)?

We're all watching. Please don't let us down.
