Comments:	I strongly object to this planning proposal. The lovely view from the beach to Highdown Hill now looks awful with the vehicles parked already on that plot of land. It will get worse with more concession vans parked there & with two 6 metre flag poles sticking up in the air. Facilities in the area are already well established with two cafe's within walking distance of the Gap & there are also three toilet blocks, one at the Sealane Cafe, one at the southern end of The Plantation & one at the Bluebird cafe in Ferring.

The Goring Gap should remain what it is, a nice open space where people can walk, go for a swim in the sea & enjoy the extensive views. The Sussex coast is already heavily built on. Let us see the Gap as it should be, without having to look at what is proposed in the planning application. It will destroy one of the few beautiful open vistas left on this part of the Sussex coastline.

David & Lorraine Simmons.

Kind regards
