Comments: Aside from comments from neighbours and access to this site as a result, my wife and I who are owners of 9 Firle Road, have not been notified or been shown the relevant plans and are not aware of any notice regarding them in the street itself. Should this not be a requirement of a planning application? If we had not been told about these plans by other residents in the street we would have been completely unaware of them and would not have been able to exercise our right to oppose them if we wished.
