Hello, I am very annoyed. I've been sent a letter regarding somebody wanting to turn a garage into a dwelling. This makes no difference to me, yet you haven't asked for our opinion on the house being turned into a HMO. This has added nine extra cars to a small and already packed close. It's difficult for ambulances and fire engines to get in, two of our residents of Cancer which requires quick response. There's comings and goings all night. This is not normal, it's not normal to live like this. Why are we going backwards to Victorian standards? There's a reason why Derby and Notts County are refusing permission for HMOs. Why ask for our opinion on on somebody wanting to live in a garage, is it so more people can be squeezed in?
