Shoreham Slipway - Adur Recreation Ground

Dear Mr Appleton,

Further to my letter of 12th January, I would like to emphasize the need for the safety of our trainees and others from the Adur Centre RTC who use this very small area of water for training novice sailors.

It also seems that as a public slipway the use would be very limited due to the two bridges, the moored boats, and the tidal flow, suitable only two hours each side of High Water. This is treacherous for people not familiar with this water.

The access road is not suitable for boats on trailers and the traveller barrier when shut does not allow vehicles with trailers to turn round. This road is very busy when there are frequent events on the Recreation Ground.

The Ferry Road site does not have these problems and could be preferable with better access to the wider river not restricted by bridges. This will allow many more of the public's craft to access the river and be more likely to visit the town.

Yours Truly
