Hello,

I would like to add a neutral comment to the planning permission request.

As a resident connected to the building where the works are taking place, some considerations need to be made regarding noise, security and privacy.

More work needs to take place to ensure that access to the site is secured, as children seem to be entering the building and climbing the scaffolding, this gives them direct access to my roof and they are able to climb through a hatch into the communal areas of our flats. I have had to kick several groups out, they go up at night and shout from the roofs at passers by, this is located just above my bedroom window.

As well as this, construction noise is quite significant during the day, since i am directly attached to the building I have been able to hear/feel the works taking place for the last couple of years. Particularly a loud sawing/cutting noise that persists for hours. This has moved further away in recent months, but previously was causing vibrations in my flat. Will this continue, and is it possible to add any relief to dampen the noise?

Kind regards,
