Comments: There is nothing wrong with the windows in the communal areas. It's just an excuse for the managing agents to get more money from the tennants/leaseholders.
As regards the door, the leaseholder of flat 2 had an automated door opening system installed and this would need to be removed. The leaseholder of flat 2 has the only access to the automated system and now lives in a care home. The operation of the door has to be done manually by everyone else and needs effort to keep it open

I strongly object to these proposals

Kind regards
