

A - large lounge window

The replacement window will follow the design of existing large lounge windows within the block. With two side openings.

B - small lounge window

The replacement window will follow the design of existing small lounge windows within the block.

C - kitchen window

The replacement window will follow the design of existing kitchen windows within the block. With consideration being taken with regard to restricted opening into the external, public walkway

D - balcony door

The replacement door will follow the design of existing balcony doors within the block.

E - courtesy panel

The replacement courtesy panel will follow the design of existing panels within the block. However, there do not seem to be many panels having been replaced.

Bathroom window:

DOES NOT NEED REPLACING - this just for the purpose of indicating that the window was replaced in 2006, before I moved into the property. It is therefore not an oversight.
