Description

Please describe details of the proposed development or works including any change of use

The existing property contains 4No. balconies to the flats to the north end of the property. The balconies are constructed as cantilever concrete beams using high alumina cement which has converted. Due to the potential loss of strength of the concrete, potentially in the region of 60%, causing a safety risk to the residents and public it is proposed to provide additional support to the existing balconies and floor structure.

Due to the construction of the building it is not possible to replace the existing balconies and floor structure internally without effectively demolishing the building and rebuilding and it is therefore proposed to provide additional support to the existing balconies and internal floors with the construction of a new galvanised and powder coated steel frame externally with a new balustrade structure independent of the existing concrete floor being constructed at the same time.

The timber balustrading is currently supported by the high alumina cement floor which does not provide sufficient strength and thus the balustrading has been altered to be supported by the new steel frame.

No change of use is intended.
