Hi Hannah

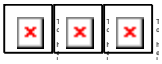

We were only consulted on this on the 20th September so it hadn't made it to the top of the pile yet as i have been on leave.

I have had a look at it now and whilst I appreciate the neighbours concerns we haven't received any complaints about noise and as the application is for a residential loft conversion, building regs would cover any concerns about noise between neighbouring residential properties. I don't have any grounds to require any higher levels of sound insulation.

Do you have any noise concerns at such a use within the roof space in terms of impact on neighbours? The flat below has objected as the property is used as an Air B&B and has noisy parties. Moving the living room to the roof may well help the ground floor flat but what about impact on either side?

If I can have your comments by the end of next week that would be great.
