Comments: This is a joke!The build was well into it's third week when we received the letter from the planning office.
The appearance is totally out of keeping with surrounding properties. The bungalow now has a very lopsided appearance - as if the porch is added as an after thought with very or no detail/thought of fitting into this neighbourhood. It is certainly NOT aesthetically pleasing.
The fact that it has been erected BEFORE the planning meeting makes a farce of the whole system. The applicant submitted a plan, but what is now built is nothing at all like their plan. These people obviously think they can do whatever they like and get away with it!
Will the council make them demolish this monstrosity?
