

Interested party 1

Comments

My earlier comments on the original application are being reiterated here. This application represents over-development. The plans require building to take place ahead of the building line and there is simply insufficient room for what is requested.

If there is a REAL desire to redevelop the site, a better option is to knock down the existing house and develop within the building lines a different and larger dwelling or flats