I felt the need to extend for the following reasons.

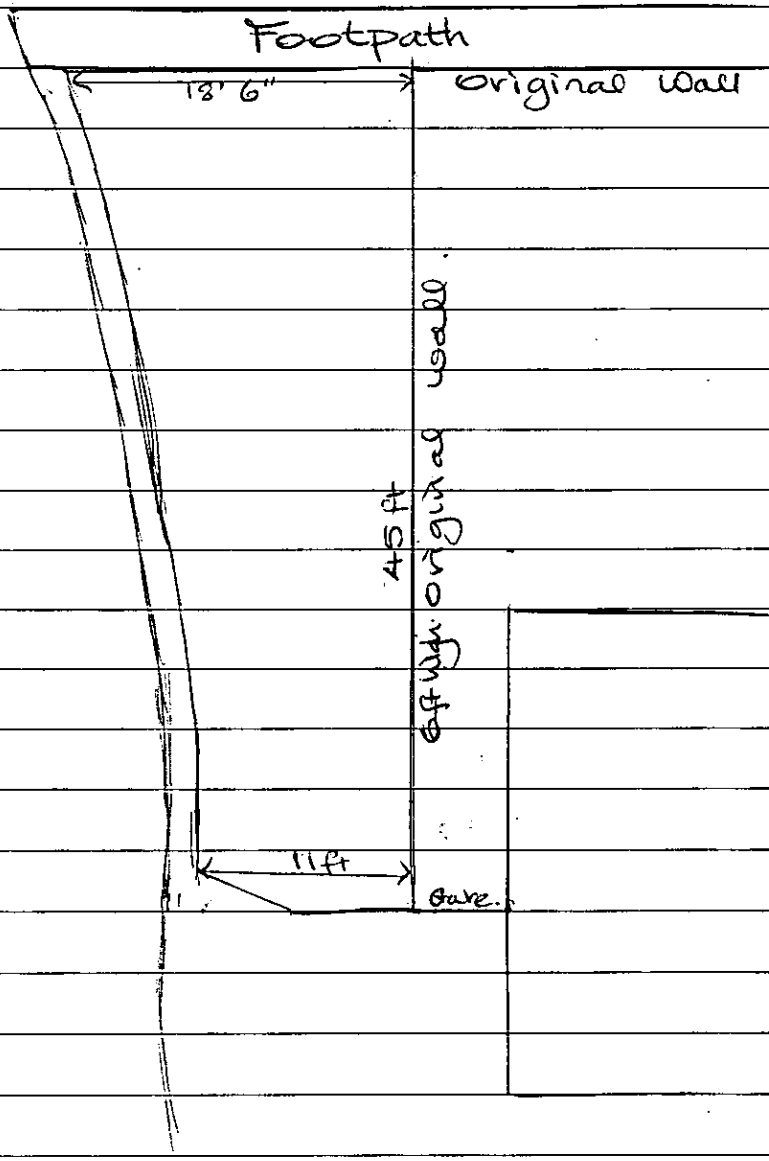

1. I caught children climbing the tree. I am not insured for any injuries should they fall. They also believed that it was 'common land'. (An ornamental chevvy)

2. Before the fence was put up, I had to remove bottles, beercans, weekly, together with cigarette, crisp and other detritis that the passing public threw away.

3. The wall hid my back garden and although I was not overlooked it meant that no-one saw my house being broken into and my daughters car being stolen.

The original wall suffered damage in the 1987 hurricane. Subsequently it started to lean and was only held in place by the shrubs planted on either side. However, the back wall started to lean dangerously over the pathway at the rear of the property. Subsequently, the footings moved along the side wall and approx. 8ft of wall collapsed towards the road.

Measurements - best approximation; showing position of original wall

My neighbours in Redwood Close and Willow Crescent have all complimented me on the new fence

They have all said it is pleasant to look at.

There is an 18" wide grass verge next to the pavement, which I had planned to plant with flowering shrubs.
