Whilst I personally have no objection to the new porch which has now been built, and applaud the increased parking space, I have to say the whole planning department is now a complete joke!

Since when are you allowed to build the structure before planning permission is approved?

The structure which has been built in no way resembles the published plan on the website!

This is completely unacceptable and ruining our neighbourhood as well as the noise we have endured for weeks (next door at 40 Ring Road have been digging up the garden for 3 months) and the combined noise has made our lives a misery!

Yours sincerely
