Thank you for your email - sorry for the delay. I have taken a look at this tree in relation to its proximity to the proposed building. Looking at the aerial view it would appear that the tree is 12 metres from the corner of the existing conservatory. This would put the proposed development outside of the trees root protection zone.
Therefor I have no concerns.

Many thanks could you have a look at this app please? There's a big old tree (oak?) in the rear garden on the southern boundary which is clearly visible in a couple of my photos in the relevant team B folder. Is this extension like to threaten it?

Ta.
