Comments:	Turning an already charming, well established and adapted Guest House into a HMO is wholly irresponsible. You'll be removing a quaint and traditional part of our seaside / costal town makeup, removing the appeal for out of area visitors to come and stay. Marine View, as it stands, and how it's been managed for many years, provides prime location sea-view accommodation renowned with old costal towns. Removing another of these beautiful buildings from this purpose is greed driven and has zero consideration for residents and businesses, both independent and our larger chain stores.

We should be encouraging out of area people to visit our town, stay and experience the traditional sea front B&B's. This footfall is greatly needed in our town to help sustain our high street. Cramming in as many tenants as possible into a HMO, in such a prime, and already, busy, location will cause issues. The accommodation does not offer parking, adding the potential of 12-24 more cars on the sea front and into parking zone B is thoughtless as residents already struggle to find suitable parking. There are plenty of empty flats available in and around West Worthing, with other new developments going up in West & East Worthing.

This area of West Worthing is already weighted down with a vast numbers of bedsits that accommodate the most anti-social, grossly behaved individuals being housed in beautiful, protected buildings in excellent locations, moments from the sea front and high street; I witness daily, theft, violence, excessive drinking, substance abuse and abuse of business owners and workers; properties are unkempt and their residents cause issues for their neighbours. We are already positioned between a problematic HMO on the corner of Western Place / Western Row, which has seen a never ending rotation of problematic habitants that call for police to attend regularly, the building formerly known as Polands on Rowlands Road, which now operates as a halfway house will soon also be a hub for the homeless and drug-addicted. The old Bingo Hall is being flattened and turned into residential homes, alongside all the problematic bedsits along Rowlands Road, which again the police frequent often. Housing many of these individuals so close to retail outlets and on the sea front runs such a high risk of temptation and ease for theft, it detracts people from visiting the area.

Marine View is a great, established guest house with a fantastic bar set up on it's lower level, offering an extra revenue stream for an owner. It's sat within an area of protected buildings and houses and, therefore, should also be treated as such.

Kind regards
