Hi Peter,

The development will get very little direct sunlight as the existing buildings will cast a shadow over the property. Distinct types of health conditions can be caused by inadequate light, e.g. depression and psychological effects because of the lack of natural light and windows with a view. There may also be privacy issues with occupants of the flats being able to peer directly into the roof lights.

The development will also mean that residents in the existing flats will lose valuable amenity space.

For these reasons I would object to the application.
