Reasons for comment:	- Loss of General Amenity
Comments:	I understand that negotiations are ongoing regarding the steps which will replace those currently providing access across the river bank for both the houseboat owners and the landside householders. The negotiations will determine whether the houseboat owners will have responsibility for the design and installation of the replacement steps. It is important that the outcome of the negotiations includes a commitment that the design of the steps will not result in the landside householders experiencing any loss of access to the tow path. For example it needs to be stated the replacement steps should run from ground level to the tow path and should be accessible from the gates at the back of the landside houses.
