Comments:	I support this application. The barns on this site are past their best and I think turning it into decent housing is a good use of the land, much better than building on greenfield sites nearby. Ten homes feels like a sensible scale, and the layout looks like it's been designed with some thought given to how it sits alongside the surroundings.

It's also a practical spot for new housing, close to shops and schools in Lancing and Shoreham and not far from the station or main roads, so people won't have to rely on a car for everything.

Adur needs more family homes, and this application would help with that without overloading the area. I hope it gets approved.

Kind regards
